Electrical Problems Cited As Fire Cause

By CHARLES S. WARD
Beacon-News Staff Writer

Authorities said today they believe electrical problems caused the fire which killed a father and two daughters at 160 Parkside Ave. in Moecherville Friday morning.

Chief Don Hills said he believes the reason the victims were trapped was because a flexible line to a gas heater broke after the fire started, causing the fire to race through the house.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Joseph Maxzone said his office may not complete its investigation until Monday.

He and Moecherville Fire Chief Hills Friday afternoon sifted debris at the two-bedroom ranch style home in which Daniel Duran, 25, and his two daughters, Petra, 2, and Irma, 4, were found dead in a back bedroom.

Fire burned more intensely there, Chief Hills said. He theorized the blaze started there or in a back entryway. Fire authorities were investigating the entry and kitchen Friday afternoon. The interior of the small home was charred, a total loss, Chief Hills said.

Deputy Kane County Coroner Don Peterson said the three bodies were blistered, but not charred, by flames. They were taken to Dieterle Memorial Home. An inquest will be held in three weeks.

He also said blood tests will be made to find whether they died of smoke inhalation or burns.

Kane County sheriff's police said the father carried two other smaller children, Francisca and Juanita Duran, age 2 and 3, to safety before firemen arrived.

The mother, Martina, 21, who escaped serious injury, took another daughter, Martha, 8, to safety.

Martina was treated and released at Copley Memorial Hospital. Martha, who suffered second degree burns, was transferred later Friday to the Cook County Burn Center for treatment after she received attention at Copley. Her mother accompanied her, hospital officials said.

When the father plunged back into the burning home to save the other two children who died, he was apparently overcome by smoke and flames.

Chief Hills said his body was found on the bedroom floor between a bed and a crib. The burned bodies of two dead children were found on the bed when firemen broke through into the house.

Chief Hills said the Moecherville fire house received two phone alerts of the fire about 8:30 a.m. Friday; one from a neighbor on Woodland Avenue in the next block west, and one from a resident across Parkside Avenue.

Chief Hills said when firemen arrived, flames were rolling out of the windows.

Firemen attempted to rescue the three trapped members of the Duran family, but heat, smoke and flames drove them back.

Sheriff's police said that the parents were sleeping in the living room of the home when the fire occurred. They said the children were asleep in the back bedroom, and a cousin was sleeping in the front bedroom alone.

The cousin, Ernesto Duran, 18, told sheriff's police he leaped out of the front bedroom window to escape the flames.

He told police through Deputy Felipe Robles, a Spanish-speaking interpreter, that he was awakened by children's screams to find the house blazing.

He told police there were eight persons living in the house.

Kane County building and zoning officials said the county code does not limit the number of persons who can live in the same housing unit and sharing the same cooking facilities if they are related by blood or marriage. The code limits occupants of nonrelated persons to five.

Three Killed In Area Fire

By CHARLES S. WARD
Beacon-News Staff Writer

Three persons, including an infant, died while apparently trapped in a fire that swept a small ranch home at 117 Parkside Ave. in Moecherville about 8:30 a.m. today.

Kane County sheriff's police said the bodies were found in rubble inside the home. They were tentatively identified as Daniel Duran and his two children, Patricia and Nora. The home was gutted, but did not collapse.

A witness to the fire said he passed the small home about 8:30 a.m. when he saw fire leaping out a bedroom window in the northwest corner of the house.

A cousin, who said he escaped the fire by jumping out a window, said that he was sleeping when fire swept the home.

He said he was awakened by screaming. He said that the father of the children came out of the home and returned inside trying to save the children.

He told Kane County sheriff's police through an interpreter that eight persons were in the home. Three other children escaped injury.

The mother was taken to the emergency room of Copley

Memorial Hospital where authorities reported she was not badly injured.

Another daughter, Martha, 8, was being admitted to the hospital for treatment of burns at press time today.

Emergency vehicles and fire equipment from Aurora, Moecherville and South Park Fire departments responded to the call this morning.

The fire was extinguished and firemen and police worked to free the three persons trapped in the home.

Firemen and police said so far they are unable to determine the cause of the blaze.
