

hours. Then, he'll have to return to the hospital. But, he said, "This will be a happy Father's day for me."

It will be Grandfather's day for Galvin, too. When he's home, he expects to see his first grandchild, Mary Beth Simmons, who was born June 7.

Galvin, who celebrated his 48th birthday in the hospital Friday, said "My children have grown up since I've been here."

Obituaries

* BERNARD GRIGSBY

Bernard Grigsby, 70, of Eola, passed away yesterday at 41 New York St.

Funeral services will be held from the Healy chapel at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. Rev. Lyman Davis will officiate.

Friends may call at the chapel.

JOHN F. STERNBERG

John F. Sternberg, 62, passed away Friday at his home in Warrentville.

He is survived by his widow, Irene; four daughters, Mrs. Louise Ijams, Mrs. Jane Warnecke, Mrs. Norine Binns and Mrs. Betty Ann Blanchard, and one son, Paul.

Funeral services will be held from the Kampp funeral chapel, 120 N. Hale St., Wheaton, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be in the Wheaton cemetery.

Friends may call at the Kampp chapel.

Aurora Beacon-News

Published by The Copley Press,

clerk
St.: yes.
an
I w follo
line.
mer

high school and
and even when I
I took courses in 1

Justice Geneva Check in C

Justice Walter Geneva firmly believing, "A bad pen is up." Only in his unsigned check for Several weeks ago Geneva accepted a note from a policy holder of an insurance company. There was a given the name of Charles Griffith. It wasn't until the note to the bank that Griffith had not Judge Nurnberg to St. Charles a relatives who said seen him. For several judge attempted then gave up, resulting a loss of $27,50.

Then on Friday, Aurora Beacon-News